THE COMMERCIAL BANK OF INDIA.

THIS Company has been formed for the purpose of purchasing a site in the Colony of Hongkong for Docks and constructing Docks and erecting suitable Premises thereon for carrying on the Business of Building or Docking and Repairing Steamers and Sailing Vessels, and for the purchase of the Docks now owned and carried on at Whampoa by Messrs. T. HUNT & Co. with the Appurtenances Plant and Good-will of the Dock Building Business of that Firm.

It is proposed to register, the Company as one of Limited Liability either under the Imperial Act or under any Ordinance which the local Legislature may pass enabling local Companies to do so, the property of the Company in the meantime being vested in the Trustees, and the Deed of Settlement of the Company, now in course of preparation, is being framed in accordance with this intention.

The very considerable increase in the number of Vessels employed in what may be termed local trade, or in voyages that either originate or terminate at Hongkong, in addition to the great quantity of tonnage visiting the Port from all quarters of the World, afford ample scope for the remunerative operations of Dock Companies, in addition to those which are already in existence.

Application has been made to Her Majesty's Government with reference to obtaining a site for the proposed Docks in the Colony, and the project has been favourably entertained, steps being in progress to facilitate this object, the necessary preliminary investigations as to the suitable character of the proposed site having been conducted and satisfactorily reported upon, by Mr. S. B. RAWLINS.

Liberal support has been promised to the undertaking which it is contemplated must necessarily prove a very remunerative one.

Further applications for Shares can still further notice be addressed to the Undersigned from whom forms of application and all particulars can be obtained.

Counsel for the Company.

SHOULD any of our readers not be supplied with copies of the Chronicle and Directory, we would suggest early application, as the few that remain are about to be sent North—those we sent thither having met with a very ready sale.

THERE is a performance at the Queen's Theatre this evening, being the last of the season. The programme is an attractive one, and such of our readers as may not have seen Madame Duret will do well to avail of this opportunity. She is well worth seeing in sensation melo-drama.

Mr. Chas. Edouin's benefit is announced for Monday night. Rob Roy, unabridged with all the music, and the farce of Mr. and Mrs. White are the pieces selected.

Mr. Edouin has labored like a horse during the whole of an arduous season for the amusement of this Community, and we, who can bear testimony to his industry, zeal, and tact, beg to solicit the patronage of our readers in his favor. The orchestral arrangements have been most onerous, and yet have only formed part of his duties. He has had all the outdoor work to do, and is stage manager also.

He relies on his benefit in a great measure for a recompense. This was fixed for the night of the Race Ball, which of course was out of the question. It is now fixed on the busy mail night, but as the season will close on Wednesday, it cannot be helped.

WE understand that there are two sides to the stories which form the subjects of complaint against the Race Committee, and we have been asked to make some little explanations. We are not inclined to do this, except on one point—namely the relative weights at which High Sheriff and Aga were handicapped. The former it seems is two inches higher than the latter, and therefore has to carry twelve pounds additional according to the twelfth rule. Consequently the extra between the two ponies was really only nine pounds, instead of twenty one. This is all very well, but why we ask, was not High Sheriff's height given in the Race lists?

As for the other two contretemps—the committee decided under certain fundamental racing rules, and the public have a right to expect some little satisfaction in the shape of a report of their decisions. If the committee will not give these, they have but themselves to blame for the loss of public confidence.

WE are glad to find that deep water wharfs are likely to become the order of the day here. The P. & O. Co. have erected one alongside to which their coast steamers land and receive cargo. Messrs. Russell & Co. are erecting a wharf of the same description opposite Wolang's for the convenience of their Canton steamers. At least two wharfs are either erected, or are being erected, at Wantchai, and we believe that others will spring up.

The advantages to the colony in a commercial point of view from a system of deep water wharfage are too palpable and too well understood to require enlarging upon. Economy in the landing charges, the saving from pilferage and waste, and the despatch which can be given to ships, are the items on which the advantages will tell. Instead of Rice being subject to a charge of eight cents per picul for landing, one or at most two cents would cover it. Instead of the pilferage and waste amounting to three per cent, they will hardly amount to one per cent; and instead of a ship being a fortnight in discharging, four days will be sufficient. In delivering cargo from the godown the same advantages are multiplied.

The advantages we attempt to describe, will be so peculiarly beneficial to Hongkong, that really it is most essential a thorough system of deep water wharfage should be initiated. This colony is a depot, nothing more,—therefore the cheaper and the safer Goods can be landed, the more it will be made use of its free port and fine harbor would develop a far larger trade than heretofore, if a proper system of wharfage were established.

We are happy to be enabled to state that the Sailors' Home is progressing more favorably than the projectors ever dreamt of. There have been about one hundred inmates in it at one and the same time;—many hands having been shipped, the number at present is reduced to about seventy, subject to daily fluctuations.

The inmates are happy and contented, and the concern is evidently a thriving one. Before any abuses creep in, and whilst matters are progressing satisfactorily, we do sincerely trust that the Directors will personally visit the establishment at every convenient opportunity. We hope that these visits will not be the namby namby, empty, formal, useless conversazione's which Justices of the Peace inflict upon the Gaol—but will be dignified scrutinies.

There is a great want of accommodation for officers, engineers, and seafaring men of the better class. It says a great deal for the accommodation and the fare of the establishment, that a slight sprinkling of these should take advantage of its operation, and mingle with the sailors, in preference to resorting to the existing boarding houses, which have hitherto been maintained by their reception. Still such a state of things is unseemly and should be put a stop to with all convenient speed.

It is true that the intention always was to provide quarters for officers, and that the lack of means alone prevented that intention from being carried out. Still there are two views to take of the present position of affairs. One, as to whether some temporary arrangement cannot be made;—the other, as to the steps requisite to be taken for the erection of officers' quarters.

As to the temporary arrangement. We presume it is not intended to give up the whole of the building constructed for the accommodation of the Indian sailors, to the Superintendent; and we should say, that the mess room for officers might be made in that building. Furthermore, we should imagine that one of the dormitories (of course we mean in the large building) might be kept select for officers until the other dormitories, should be full and additional bedding be required—and even then a space might be screened off.

As for the erection of permanent quarters for officers. Messrs. Jardine have done so much, that it would be simply absurd to ask or expect them to do more. They have not however used their influence in the attempt to obtain contributions, and as they have the completion of the original design at heart, we fancy if they would depute some popular emissary to "go round with the hat," at the same time consenting to the surplus receipts being appropriated to the purpose proposed, that sufficient funds might be raised to build officers' quarters. We think the attempt should be made, and that speedily; because it is a pity that such a fine establishment should have such a great defect.

We believe that the accounts exhibit a fair surplus on the first month's transactions, and that the fear lest the Home should not pay its expenses is a lost one.

Reading matter is much wanted. We propose sending all our exchanges to the Home on the arrival of the succeeding Mail, and we make no doubt that our contemporary will do the same. Newspaper reading is that best adapted under the circumstances, and although the dates will be a fortnight old, still that will be rather an advantage than otherwise to Sailors, as the latest dates overturn occurrences which have happened whilst they were at sea.

PASSPORTS FOR UNITED STATES.

Mr. Editor:—The following notice by the Department of State, United States, is important to all persons about to visit that Country, and I ask its insertion in the Press.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE,
WASHINGTON, 17th December, 1865.

The President directs that, except immigrant passengers directly entering an American port by sea, henceforth no traveller shall be allowed to enter the United States from a foreign country without a passport. If a citizen, the passport must be from this department, or from some United States Minister or Consul abroad; and if an alien, from the competent authority of his own country. Passport to be countersigned by a diplomatic agent or Consul of the United States. This regulation is intended to apply especially to persons proposing to come to the United States from the neighboring British provinces. Its observance will be strictly enforced by all officers, civil, military, and naval, in the service of the United States, and the State and municipal authorities are requested to aid in its execution. It is expected, however, that no immigrant passenger, coming in manner aforesaid, will be obstructed, or any other persons who may set out on their way hither before intelligence of this regulation could reasonably be expected to reach the country from which they may have started.

NOTICE OF REDUCTION OF PASSAGE MONEY.

IN the year 1857 the Directors made a considerable reduction in the Company's rates of Passage Money, which continued in force till 1861.
In that year, owing to the extraordinary rise in the Cost and Freight of Coals, and the enhanced price of all descriptions of Naval Stores, the Directors were reluctantly compelled to return to the rates of Passage Money previously in force. They are now happy to state that a decrease in the price of Coal and other expenses of Steam Navigation enables them to reduce the Company's Passage rates to the undernoted scale, which will take effect from and after the 1st June next, viz:—

From Hongkong to —
Suez,	$150
Malta,	510
Marseilles,	530
Gibraltar,	520
Southampton,	550
Reserved Rates for Single Persons.
Suez,	$820
Malta,	1,020
Marseilles,	1,060
Gibraltar,	1,060
Southampton,	1,100
Reserved Rates for Married Couples.
Suez,	$1,160
Malta,	1,360
Gibraltar,	1,348
Marseilles,	1,348
Southampton,	1,388

The charges for Children are in proportion to the above.
The above rates are exclusive of the amount payable to the Egyptian Transit Administration for conveyance of Passengers through Egypt, viz:—
For First-class Passengers, $32
Children above three and under ten years, half-fare.
By Order of the Managing Directors,

NEWS OF THE WEEK
(From the Spectator.)

Ending 7th January, 1865.

Mr. Bright attended the opening of the new Exchange Hall at Birmingham on Monday, and made an eloquent but exaggerated speech on manufactures, chambers of commerce, and the destinies of trade. He thought that manufactures had been too modest, that they were "gradually becoming more important than warriors and statesmen," that the steam of commerce would be found always to have run side by side with that of freedom and civilization, that every Exchange was a portion of the Parliament of the world, and that the future would belong to the "captains of industry." The traders to whom he spoke of course applaud these sentiments to the echo, without reflecting that without liberty, which is due to the warrior and the statesman, their trade could not even exist, or that a man like Duke of Norfolk or the Duke of Northumberland is a "captain of industry" of a very high and productive kind. The speaker passed on to the strikes, upon which he was for a manufacturer singularly fair, arguing that the right of striking was "a reserved power which, under some circumstances, it might be the duty of the workmen to exercise." He thought its exercise, however, usually imprudent, and trusted to education as the best corrective of the bitterness between masters and employed. He may be right, and we shall reckon on him to resist the absurd outcry against the cost of State education, but the masters are better educated than the men, and are at least as unfair.

The rumoured marriage between the Princess Mary of Cambridge and an English Viscount has been demi-officially denied. The exact operation of the Royal Marriage Act is so entirely misconceived by the public, that we have given elsewhere a careful account of its real motive, limits, and operation.

The Richmond Enquirer of the 15th of December quotes the high authority of General R. E. Lee (who has written a letter to Mr. W. Porcher Miles, Chairman of the House Committee on Military Affairs) in favour of arming the slaves, expressly in order to create a force with which to resist General Sherman. The Enquirer itself, representing, it is said, the political views of Mr. Jefferson Davis, presses the argument in favour of both emancipating and arming them on the ground that so, and so only, will Europe(an) be induced to help the South. "When we supplicate European nations for help we must be prepared to receive it on their conditions, which will be the abolition of slavery. If we are prepared to abolish slavery, it will not be necessary to go to European nations for protection; they will give us not only recognition, but will follow recognition with such intervention as will secure nationality and liberty." We suppose "they" means the Emperor of the French for England certainly would not recognise this reluctant and compulsory expedient with any such aid though she would welcome it cordially of course. We doubt very much indeed, too, whether France would risk a large part of her commerce, and perhaps her military reputation on such a stake as securing an independent and friendly neighbour for the Mexican Empire. If Mr. Davis risks this great measure of justice at last, in spite of the loud cries which the slave oligarchy are raising at the prospect, we think he should be prepared to find his only substantial reward within himself. "We hate, detest and despise the enemy," says the Enquirer, "far more than we love and admire slavery." That their hatred of good—moderate good—should be deeper than even love of evil, is a natural result of the first principle of the Confederacy in choosing its Corner-Stone, "Evil, be thou my Good!" Still ordinary men love is stronger than hatred, and of course when their objects are transposed hatred is stronger than love.

We have reason to believe that negotiations are now in progress for a commercial treaty with Austria which, if concluded, will confer very great benefits on Austria and not inconsiderable ones on England. The difficulty of course for us is the difficulty of finding a quid pro quo.

New Year's Day passed off in Paris without any incident of note. The emperor received the diplomatic body, but only declared their good wishes "an expression of that concord which ought to obtain among nations, and of which your prudence is to me the surest guarantee." Those words may imply a covert menace, prudence not being the quality usually attributed to Sovereigns, but they may also mean nothing immediate and Napoleon's resolves are determined by events.

Lord Palmerston spoke again at Romsey on Wednesday this time on reading, writing, and arithmetic. Children, he said, "know the value in childhood of amusement and idleness." But they ought to learn "reading, writing, and arithmetic." Reading is of course "very important" as a means of knowledge. Writing is "almost as important as reading," and, moreover, which is more to the purpose, Lord Palmerston has a view about it. Writing should not "disgust" the person who has to read it. But writers will disgust their correspondents, says Lord Palmerston, if they are "langhs as they are at present, to make "their upstrokes fine and their downstrokes hold." The consequence of which is that writing often looks like an area railing, a little lying on one said, so that it is difficult for the eye to make out the letters of which that writing professes to be composed." Lord Palmerston means than the upstrokes are made so fine that nobody sees them and in the illustration of the 'area railing lying on one side' they are represented, we suppose, by invisible diagonals connecting the bottom of each railling with the top of its successor. Lord Palmerston himself makes his upstrokes as thick nearly as his downstrokes, and the effect is certainly legible enough. The value of mental arithmetic he illustrated by telling a story of some boys who were asked to calculate 8d. a day for four years. Three of them brought it out the same, the fourth 3d. more. The master said, the fourth was wrong, but the boy maintained and proved he was right, reminding his teacher that four years contain a leap year, and consequently an extra day. That boy will certainly get on, but his sharpness was native to him, certainly not the result of any practice in mental arithmetic, which could never have reminded him of leap year.

Income-tax	5,850,000	4,831,000
Post-office	2,962,500	3,005,000
Crown Lands	232,500	220,000
China and Japan Indemnity	450,000
Miscellaneous	1,057,000	1,343,285
	£50,346,000	£51,136,285

giving apparently an excess above the estimate for the three quarters of only 790,285l., or above 1,000,000l. for the year. The excess is, however in reality very much larger. The income-tax is always very much behindhand at this period, and a great portion of it is collected in the last quarter; there is probably no credit yet given for the China and Japan indemnity, so that the surplus on the estimates for the year may well be taken at fully two millions, and there will be besides the margin retained in the original estimate of 238,000l. Even without important reductions in the expenditure, if we allow for the natural annual increase in the revenue next year, the Chancellor of the Exchequer should have in his next estimates full three millions to dispose of for the reduction of taxation. The revenue for 1863 was 70,133,620l., and for 1864, after losing about 1,740,000l. by remitted taxes in the last three quarters of the year, was still 70,125,374l.—that is, the increase this year has been certainly very much above a million sterling.

Mr. T. G. Baring Under Secretary for the Home Department, and formerly Under Secretary for India, addressed his constituents at Falmouth on Thursday, the 29th December. His topic was India, and his speech is in the highest vein official optimism. The Queen's Government had, he said, changed a deficit of 14,000,000l. into a surplus of 2,000,000l., which would enable Government to abolish the income-tax. The total revenue of the Empire had risen to 46,200,000l., nearly double its figure in 1848, while the interest on the debt was only 4,500,000l. No less amount than 31,000,000l. had been spent in six years on public improvements, and including railways the annual outlay on public works was 11,000,000l. a year. Considering that Government is sole landlord over the greater part of India, 12 per cent. of income is not very much to expend upon improvements, and Anglo-Indians are getting a little tired of these eternal pleas about public works. Now court-houses do not imply more justice, or new roads improved habits, or new barracks less disaffection, or new railways greater unity between native and European, or new taxes less poverty. The Government seems very much inclined to repeat the Scriptural text, and think that a stone is not only a fitting but the only fitting substitute for bread.

We are happy to perceive that M. Reuter's monopoly is at last menaced with overthrow. A limited company has at last been started, which proposes to sell bulletins of public news upon the plan which he first made popular, and some of its telegrams from America have been published. They are not good telegrams at all, the Company's agents being apparently very rackety "bonds," but any opposition is a great boon to the public. No single man, however able or enterprising, ought to be entrusted with the power of reporting the daily history of the world, and on occasions we have found M. Reuter's intelligence decidedly unfair. His agents have never been impartial on the American contest, while the intelligence they collect in Germany, Spain, and Russia is of the least instructive kind. All that might be remedied, but the evil of monopoly is permanent.

The difficulty created by the "raiders" of Canada seems likely to produce good. Mr. Lincoln has recalled the imprudent order issued by General Dix ordering troops to continue pursuit beyond the frontier, and the Canadian Government and people have acted with unusual energy. The volunteers have been called out to guard the frontier and arrest all desperadoes; and the militia has met with an eager response; the companies stepping forward all together. Special constables, moreover, have been sent to the frontier attended by mounted police, and so great is the excitement in the colony that many of the Toronto papers are crying out for the expulsion of those who abuse hospitality so grievously. The total result will probably be a renewal of friendly feeling between Canada and the North.

A horrible catastrophe has occurred at Dundee. A man named Springthorpe promised on 2nd January a musical entertainment in a hall excavated under a local church. The approach to this place is down a staircase of thirteen steps, at the top of which is a gate with two leaves. As the time of admission drew near the crowd, which in Dundee at the New Year is usually half drunk, crashed against the gate the manager opened one leaf the mob broke down the other, and in an instant a hundred persons were piled in a heap below the stairs. When the crowed was forced back twelve men and eight girls, almost all of the working class, were found dead. It is stated, we trust untruly, that many men who had paid at the gate interrupted the work of extricating the sufferers by clamouring for a return of their money. That incident could not have occurred in London—even in Whitechapel or Poplar.
